A. C-27 and C-24.

I gave these inside an envelope to Moose to give to Marc, and he said that he took them over there to him, gave them to him. It was inside an envelope.

Q. Am I correct that these correspondence came about because Marc wanted to change his statement?

A. Yes.

Q. To exonerate you?

A. Yes.

MS. FOULKES: Objection, your Honor. That's leading.

THE COURT: Sustained.

BY MR. PANARELLA:

Q. Did you kill Amos Norwood?

A. No.

Q. Did you ever strike Mr. Amos Norwood?

A. No, I didn't.

Q. When did you leave the presence of Mr. Norwood?

A. When Michael and Marc, when Michael pulled out the gun, and Marc grabbed him behind the neck.

Williams - Direct

Q. When you left, Mr. Norwood was still alive?

A. Yes.

MR. PANARELLA: I have no further questions, your Honor.

MS. FOULKES: Your Honor, may we see you about scheduling for today? It is 3:30. Cross examination is going to be somewhat lengthy.

THE COURT: I think we ought to proceed. I will be glad to see you for a moment. Sure.

(Whereupon, an off the record discussion was held at sidebar).

THE COURT: Members of the jury, we'll take a five minutes recess.

(Whereupon, the jury left the courtroom).

THE COURT: I want to say that it appears that there is a possibility that I will be charging the jury on Wednesday or so, and counsel are free to submit whatever points for charge they want or make any requests in any way that they want concerning any matters that might be took his wallet and stuff. Took his money.

Q. Did anyone talk to you at all about burning up Mr. Norwood?

A. No.

Q. Now, he asked you if you wanted to make some money on the deal; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And after you knew that the man who agreed to give you a ride, I presume you didn't know Mr. Norwood.

Is that also correct?

A. No, I didn't know him.

Q. Had you ever met him before?

A. No.

Q. Did you know anything about him?

A. No.

Q. So you didn't have any reason to be angry with him or want to wish him any harm; did you?

A. No.

Q. Knowing that Michael Hopkins was offering you a car, it was a hot car; right?

A. Yes, it is.

Q. You, nevertheless, agreed to carry on the

Rogers, that you were in trouble but you didn't tell her what the trouble was?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, when you indicated to Miss Rogers about your knowledge of who killed the guy at the cemetery, did you also say, after saying that you knew who killed Mr. Norwood, no, I'm only kidding, and then told her that you didn't know the guy, and then said something about the Mafia?

A. I told her that -- well, when she made the statement, and she was asked --

MS. FOULKES: Objection. It's not responsive.

THE DEFENDANT: Repeat the question.

THE COURT: Just a moment.

MS. FOULKES: I will repeat the question for you.

BY MS. FOULKES:

Q. Mr. Williams, did you say to Miss Rogers, and if I may, I will quote, "Terry told me that he knew who killed the guy that was found at the cemetery. Then he said no, I'm only kidding. Then Terry told me that I didn't know the guy, and he said something about the Mafia".

Did you relate that to Miss Rogers?

A. Yes. I told her that I didn't know the guy that was killed, and she said Terry told me that I didn't know the guy.

I was referring to the guy that got killed.

Q. In point of fact, you did know the guy from your contact with him that evening; isn't that right?

A. I didn't know him personally.

Q. The shoes that you have marked as a defense exhibit, your Honor, could we have them produced again?

THE COURT: Sure.

BY MS. FOULKES:

Q. Mr. Williams, I believe you indicated that those were the shoes that you wore on the night of this killing, and which you wore to Ron Wilson's house where you met Ronald Rucker and Mark Livermore; is that right?

A. Yes.
